

AHREN WARNER

BIOGRAPHY

Born in 1986 in Oxford, England.
Lives and works in London, UK.

EDUCATION

2021-17 MFA Fine Art, Goldsmiths, London
2013-09 PhD Literature & Philosophy, Queen Mary, London
2009-08 MA Critical Methodologies, KCL, London

EXHIBITIONS

2018 'Más allá de la poesía', Centro de Cultura Digital, Mexico City
2018 'Gold X', Deptford X, London
2016 'Inside Skin', Great North Museum, Newcastle

AWARDS & RESIDENCIES

2019 Authors Foundation Award, Society of Authors, London
2018 DYCP Award, Arts Council England, London
2017 Poetry Book Society Recommendation, London
2012 Arts Foundation Fellowship, The Arts Foundation, London

Ahren Warner writes, makes films and takes photographs. Recent books include I'm totally killing your vibes (2022), The sea is spread and cleaved and furled (2020), and Hello. Your promise has been extracted (2017), for which he has received various awards from organisations including The Arts Foundation, Society of Authors, Royal Society of Literature and Poetry Book Society.

He has exhibited photography, moving-image and installation at galleries and institutions, including a recent solo show at TJ Boulting (London), Saatchi Gallery (London), South London Gallery, Centro de Cultura Digital (Mexico City), EUNIC/British Council (Athens), Nikola Tesla Museum (Zagreb) and Great North Museum (Newcastle).